

Melissa Raymer is the Education and Art Liaison Librarian at Randall Library, and over the past several years used her background in libraries and instructional technology to build bridges between academic libraries, area teachers, teachers in training, and school libraries.